Clift Land Auctions Gets $2.6 M for Land near Claude

On Thursday, October 16th, Clift Land Auctions held a successful land auction at the Amarillo Country Club in Amarillo, Texas. Up for sale was a 2,108 acre recreational ranch in Armstrong County, TX. This ranch was offered in nine individual tracts, which opened up the potential for multiple buyers to own a piece of this beautiful property. Forty-seven bidders registered to take part in the auction, which drew a crowd of around 90, and Panhandle-Plains Land Bank-Amarillo Office provided the refreshments at this auction.

To kick off the bidding, Auctioneer Todd Robertson solicited a donation to the High Plains Food Bank. Gary and Karin Sutherland of Pampa, TX donated $500.00 to help support this organization, and Clift Land Auctions matched their donation with another $500.00. Zack Wilson, Executive Director for the High Plains Food Bank was on hand to accept this generous donation.

Clift Land Auctions has been in the land auction business for over 12 years, and has sold over 185,000 acres of farms and ranches during that time. "Land sales by auction continue to increase in our area," commented George Clift. "More and more sellers are finding this to be the best way to get top dollar for their land."
